

James Stocks
Sr. Manager, Supplier Diversity
Macy's Inc.

James began his career at Macy's Inc. (formerly known as Federated Department Stores) in 2002 within the Store Planning & Construction department. There he utilized his Architecture Engineering and Construction Management background to work his way through purchasing, estimating and the field to become a Project Manager overseeing all major renovations at both iconic Manhattan flagships - Macy's Herald Square and Bloomingdale's 59th Street.

This foundation of procurement and vendor management within Macy's Inc. prepared him to transition into his current role within the Supplier Diversity department in 2011. James is responsible for the relationship with the Construction, Facilities & Operations, Logistics, Technology and Finance departments within Macy's.

Externally, James works closely with Macy's partner organizations serving on the board, committee(s) and various other roles of the National Minority Supplier Development Council, Ohio Minority Supplier Development Council, Greater Cincinnati Northern Kentucky African American Chamber, The Cincinnati USA Regional Chamber - Minority Business Accelerator and United Way.
